Work of the Week, Year 5

The Journey into the wardrobe and Beyond

AS I entered the vast, old wardrobe I could feel the fluffy, soft fur coats. I could smell the mothballs. It was silent! I could see a dull light ahead, the floor crunching loudly. AS I walked, I was freezing and I heard a pitter patter getting louder. I rubbed my face against the musty, old coats. I thought this old, dusty wardrobe will never reach the end of the wardrobe. It was getting colder and colder. Then I wondered if this was a normal wardrobe. Then I reached the end. It was snowing heavily. Then the pitter patter was louder. I could see rough, prickly branches then a weird weird person with muddy goats legs and a body of a human. And it held a red ball umbrella. and it held some parcels. "What is this strange creature?" I asked myself and it had a dusty, long beard with glossy black curly hair and a long, soft, comfortable scarf. then the creature spotted me and dropped all the parcels. "Who are you?" I whispered in a puzzled way, but it didn't reply because it was busy picking up its parcels up. Then I asked again "Oh my name is Mr Turnus and I'm a faun!" replied Mr Turnus in a shocked way. "Nice to meet you Mr Turnus" I replied. "I'm scared, frightened, excited I was."

"Then I tried to go back but he didn't let me. "Are you a human and a girl?" asked the faun.
